NTL IN SESSION HERE FOR NINTH SEASON

For the ninth successive year, the National Training Laboratory in Group Development has convened at Gould Academy in Bethel. Two sessions are scheduled this year to accommodate the increased number of people who have applied for delegate representation to this pioneer human relations training center. The Laboratory Session now in progress began June 19, and runs through July 8. The Second Session starts July 17, and runs through August 5.

Some 40 staff members will, for the most part, carry on through both sessions. The delegate body will change, with some 125 members from such widely different fields as religion, public health, education, labor, welfare, industry, government, and the armed forces reporting for each Session.

During the intensive three-week training period, delegates join with staff members at the Laboratory to explore the problems of effective group interaction. How can we have better staff meetings, committee meetings, discussion groups, work teams, and large group meetings? How can we increase our skill in "getting along with people"? How can we heighten our sensitivity to self and to others—to the end that motives are better understood, and actions channeled to the greater good of both the group and the individual?

No Laboratory is ever quite like the one that went before. It is a growing thing, as each year's research adds its bit to the world's accumulating store of knowledge concerning effective, democratic group action.

Last year, for the first time, a program was designed to train a limited number of people in human relations skills whose professional interest it was, in turn, to train others. This year's "Training of Trainers" project has been greatly expanded. In addition to American delegates, a team of 28 industrialists, psychologists, and educators are in attendance from seven countries of Western Europe. The team includes representatives from Austria, Belgium, Denmark, England, France, Holland, and Norway. Representatives will attend both Sessions at Bethel, first as delegates, and then as participating staff members.

The National Training Laboratory in Group Development is the summer activity of the National Training Laboratories of the USA. Staff members who have participated in other NTL Sessions are: Richard Beckhard, Conference Counselors, New York City; Robert R. Blake, University of Texas; Leland P. Bradford, National

"SERMON OF SONG" AT METHODIST CHURCH

On Sunday morning, June 26, we will have the pleasure of hearing God's word in the form of a sermon in song, rendered by the negro tenor, Ernest Johnson. Mr. Johnson has studied under the world famous tenor, Roland Hayes, and has for years been giving programs for colleges, schools, service clubs, women's clubs, conventions, and churches throughout the United States. His programs are adapted to the occasion. He has remarkable ability in sensing the mood of an audience. He is at his best with sacred music, in which he gives a moving interpretation out of a deep religious experience.

In return for his ministry in music Mr. Johnson asks that a free will offering be taken at the close of the service. This is how he supports his family. Let us do all in our power to give him a cordial reception here in Bethel. Invite all your friends to church on the 26th, if you wish to treat them to a rare entertainment in religious experience.

DAMBORG TELLS OF STATE POLITICS

Speaking to a group of 30 or more interested citizens of Bethel and nearby towns, Peter Damborg of the Gannett newspapers staff gave a most informative account of some of the accomplishments of the recent session of the legislature and a first hand report of many incidents of political activities in the State in recent years. The meeting in the Legion Rooms here Tuesday evening was one of many that Mr. Damborg has attended throughout the State in his nearly completed project of seeking to learn the opinions of the people in regard to the affairs of the State at the present time.

In his journeys about the State he has met many organizations, talked with and listened to the "man on the street" and politician alike, and each week has reported his findings by counties. His talk here referred to highway problems and the increased gas tax, and the proposed income and increased sales taxes. The great popularity of Governor Muskie was noted and compared with similar favor enjoyed by his predecessor, Burton Cross, during his first year. The speaker's strict impartiality added greatly to the interest of his audience.

Questionnaires were passed around at the close of the meeting which were filled out and returned and will be used by Mr. Damborg in reaching conclusions at the end of his tour.

SEN. SMITH EXTENDS INVITATION TO ALL TO GREET PRESIDENT

Senator Margaret Chase Smith today extended a special statewide invitation to the people of Maine to come to Skowhegan on Monday, June twenty-seventh to greet President Eisenhower. Pointing out that President Eisenhower will make his only major address in Maine at Skowhegan's Fair Grounds at four-fifteen that afternoon, Senator Smith said:

"I want to welcome all the good people of Maine to Skowhegan to see and hear the President of the United States and to be a participant in one of the historic events of Maine. This is the first time that a President of the United States has made an address in Maine and I hope the good people of Maine will turn out a large and enthusiastic crowd at that time to give him the greeting that I know we all want him to have."

"The event will be strictly non-political. It is a community affair run by citizens of Skowhegan. There will be full facilities for everyone. Special parking and traffic plans have been worked out for the convenience of everyone planning to drive to Skowhegan for the event." Senator Smith said that President Eisenhower and his party will drive from Lake Umbagog Monday afternoon, arriving in Skowhegan around four o'clock, and will proceed directly to the Skowhegan Fair Grounds where the President will be officially welcomed to the State by Governor Muskie and presented to the gathering by Senator Smith. Following the address, the President and his party will go to the home of Senator Smith where they will be entertained at an early supper featuring a typical Maine Clam Bake with lobsters and clams and steak cooked on open charcoal fires.

At seven o'clock the President and his party, accompanied by Senators Smith and Payne, Governor Muskie and the Maine Congressmen, will depart for Bangor, where the President will be presented some gifts and will speak briefly before his plane departs for Washington.

Alfred Brown is at the C M G Hospital, Lewiston, where he is under observation.

Ideas from other editors

From the Granite State News, Wolfeboro, New Hampshire: As we grow older we probably become more and more cynical and sour, having seen quite a bit of water go under the bridge and all over the dam.

All too often it seems that we, in this modern day and age, are confusing speed with progress, or, to phrase it another way, confusing material progress with actual progress.

If one takes a weekend to visit around and drive through northern New England one notes the sudden rush of multi-colored, chrome-plated cars on the road, two television set homes, one set for adults and one for children; kitchens are becoming semi-automatic with the electric ice box, automatic washer and dryer, power ventilation and a stove that turns itself off and on.

All of these create comforts and time saving devices are most desirable. No one but a fool would want his wife to go back to washing by hand or drawing water at the treacherous pump and juggling in wood.

But the danger is in all this material progress is that we tend to think of it as true progress and not merely as material progress. That is, the danger is in thinking that the air conditioned home and the three-toned car is the be-all and end-all of life and not merely a great convenience to make life pleasanter and to encourage and permit greater efficiency.

It is fair to raise the question then as to what is true progress. No one has ever satisfactorily answered that question. The debate can go on and on all night long, just as can the discussion as to "What is a well educated man?" or "What constitutes a gentleman?"

One might say that the youth who works hard in high school, graduates from college, serves his time with the Armed Forces, then picks up a Masters Degree in education and goes to teaching is making true progress. One might say that the factory owner who stabilizes employment, improves working conditions and secures a firm and sound understanding of mutual problems with his employees is making true progress. . . . the banker who . . . encourages thrift and home ownership in his community . . . the minister, teacher, the justice or the police officer . . . who manages to raise the moral and cultural level of his community . . . the legislator who . . . is able to raise the level of government . . .

And so it goes, a very wide field for discussion.

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare. Secretary of the Navy Thomas devoted a National Maritime Day address to an extensive discussion of the role of the American merchant marine in the atomic era. He did a convincing job of showing how this institution, whose history goes back to the earliest days of the nation, is a vital resource in both peace and war.

Mr. Thomas has high hopes for peaceful use of atomic energy, including the atom-powered merchant ship proposed by the President. But he emphasizes, this in no way lessens our critical need for a strong and adequate merchant marine made up of conventional vessels. He says: "Without our own ships, we cannot defend ourselves. Without ships, we cannot assist our allies. Without ships, we cannot grow and prosper. It may be said that victory in World War II was assured on the day when our merchant ship construction exceeded our losses."

The secretary also makes the point that the merchant marine is as important to inland states and people as to the coastal states and their people. "The former in Kansas, Illinois or Iowa, may never have seen an ocean or a merchant ship, but his livelihood is directly related to this nation's maritime strength." Vast quantities of farm products go to world markets. Do vast quantities of manufactured goods from Detroit and all the other major industrial centers. Thus the merchant marine "reaches in to every inland pasture, field, factory and workshop."

And that's not all—foreign trade is a two-way street. We must buy abroad if we are to sell abroad. Even if that weren't true, the raw material situation still would require us to import on a big scale.

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

I been reading where the workers and everybody in Great Britain have again said, "Enough." They have really thrown in the sponge on the "Workers Party" they have deserted it in mass numbers for the regular Govt and much fewer votes for the old leaders who put Great Britain into socialism with a big "P" some years ago via Mr. Attlee and Co.

The promised smooth sailing and easy paths free of pain or too much effort of the old Labor Party did not turn out so smooth and painless. They turned out under Great Attlee to be more painful versus less painful. With one big boss the Govt. job freedom was not even thereabouts. Job freedom vanished in it C. (before Churchill). And ever since they have been paying the fiddler for the error of their ways.

But in this new election they have emphasized their disagreement with any kind of a comeback of the Socialists. And that is where we should sharpen our wits and polish up our thinking on how we here can take a leaf from the British book and ease out of office that crew in Congress who still barter for more Govt. bigger Govt. Socialism for short. And down to brass tacks, we can beat of Britain's costly ventures and close down a lot of

"For 20 years, NAM has been fighting to preserve our American free competitive business system. That does not mean that NAM is opposed to progress or would obstruct sound change. NAM's actions and policies have always been measured by the yardstick—Is it in the public interest? And NAM does not believe it is in the public interest to stand idly by and see torn down an economic system which has provided for Americans the highest standard of living civilization has ever known."—Henry O. Miller, 3rd, NAM President.

This is a nice picture in black-and-white but just think how exciting it would be to see it projected in full color, many times this size, in your own living room.

The Truth About Color Slides

IF YOU haven't tried making color transparencies, you really should. Otherwise, you're going to find yourself way behind the times in your picture taking. Because that's the kind of snapshooting that's growing in popularity by leaps and bounds. And their popularity is well deserved.

They are such wonderfully satisfactory pictures. Seeing a favorite person, a familiar scene appear in full color on your screen is really thrilling.

Because color transparencies are so beautiful, many people have the idea that they are difficult to make and very expensive. These people are so very wrong on both scores.

There was a time when the miniature cameras with which color transparencies are made were expensive—but not any more. You can get a good one in the $30-$35 price range—and that certainly isn't a high price for a good camera. At first thought you may think the film is expensive, but remember, the price includes processing, and you receive the slides all ready to view. Actually, when you use 35-exposure film, your slides will be costing you only 15 cents apiece.

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

THE day before Larry Wickes, P. O. Box 388, Dublin, Georgia, was to sail for sea duty in the Navy he received a letter from his wife's lawyer saying she wanted a divorce. He felt as though the bottom had dropped out from under him. For the next two and one-half years he tried to drown his worries in liquor and beer, or anything else that would make a man drunk. When he was discharged from the Navy he left off drinking but he brought his worries home with him.

He bought a gasoline service station in Dublin, Georgia, and for the next four years he tried to forget his worries by working fifteen or sixteen hours a day at the station. But it didn't work.

A few years later as he was walking down the street he suddenly blacked out and almost fell flat on his face. He went to a doctor for a check up, and found he had very little blood; also he was on the verge of a nervous breakdown. He did some serious thinking that afternoon and decided he had reached the end of his rope. Something had to be done.

When he went home that night he closed the door and fell down on his knees and asked Almighty God to take his life or do what he would with it. He himself wanted only peace of mind.

Then he crawled into bed and slept like a baby. That knot was gone from his stomach and he was completely relaxed. His prayer was heard and answered by the Lord.

He believes that there never has been nor will there ever be any method discovered that will beat the one he used.

SCANNING THE NEWS

THERE are literally bread-lines in the United States today. To read the newspapers and the weekly financial and business publications each week, no one would suspect it. No one would suspect that there are approximately two million people depending upon distribution of surplus food for their meals. To read the stock-market reports and the financial statement and net profits of the large business concerns, no one would suspect that there are some 5,000,000 Americans with an income of $1,000 or less, who are subsisting upon a sub-standard diet. There are 3,700,000 in the American labor force who are without jobs. There are some 3,000,000 more who are working one, two or three days a week.

In the mining industry alone, there are more than 200,000 miners idle. They have been idle for months. They have exhausted their unemployment compensation and are living on charity. This means that in the mining industry alone some 600,000 to 700,000 persons are living or subsisting on the doles of the tremendous stores of surplus foods built up over the years by the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Hear this, Congressman James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.), speaking on the floor of the house: "Think of it, Mr. Chairman, according to the Pennsylvania Department of Property and Supplies, in the great industrial State of Pennsylvania, out of its 10 and one-third million residents, nearly 10%, or 1,020,963 are living on surplus commodities."

And what are those surplus commodities? They are butter, cheese, dried beans, dry milk and a limited amount of cooking oils. But no bread. No corn meal. These people do not have the money to buy bread or corn meal. They have absolutely no purchasing power.

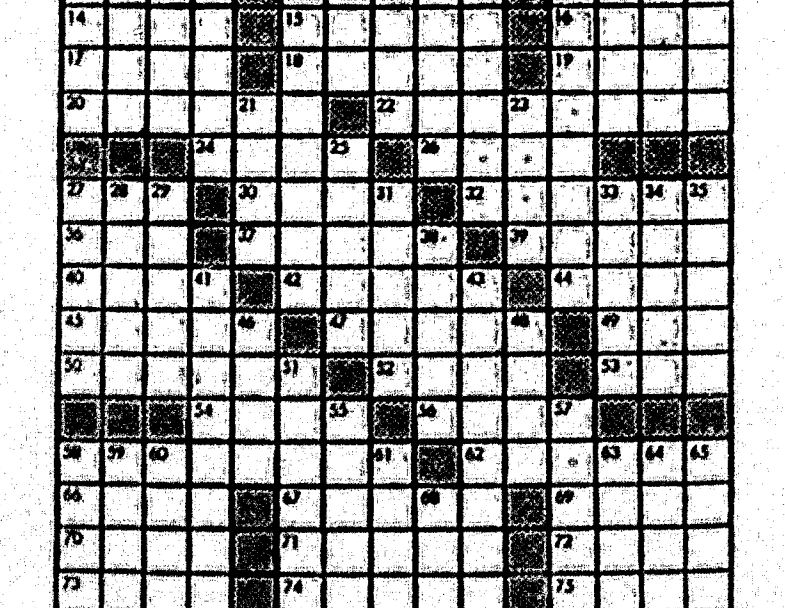

Multiply these figures by 61,000 unemployed miners in West Virginia; 67,000 in Virginia; 30,000 in southern Illinois. Other thousands in Kentucky, Indiana and other coal mining states—28 states in all.

Congress recently started something about removing the bread-lines. The House passed a bill (H.R. 2651) to mandate the Department of Agriculture to furnish from surplus stores of the Commodity Credit Corporation, sufficient supplies of processed wheat and corn to provide all these people with flour and meal with which to make bread. Somehow, the Congress did not trust the Department of Agriculture to deliver this surplus food, for the bill mandates the Department of Agriculture to deliver to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare sufficient quantities of flour and corn meal, and directs the HE and W department to distribute it to proper local or state agencies.

The bill passed the house by a vote of 343 to 1. The lone dissenter was Representative Fred Marshall (D-Minn.). Although three Congressmen—Cleveland and Vorys of Ohio, and Utt, of California, voted "present," sidestepping the issue.

Most of this unemployment is in the mining industry, but there is some in steel, some in farm implements and other industry.

MOST Modern V8 FOR YOUR JOB!

NOW...THE SHORTEST STROKE V8's IN ANY LEADING TRUCK!

Now new Chevrolet Task-Force trucks bring you the industry's most advanced V8 engines* with an ultra-short stroke for reduced friction and wear. Here are some of the modern features they bring you.

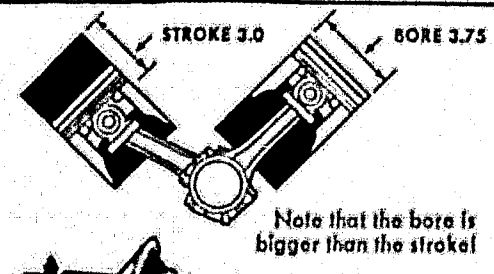

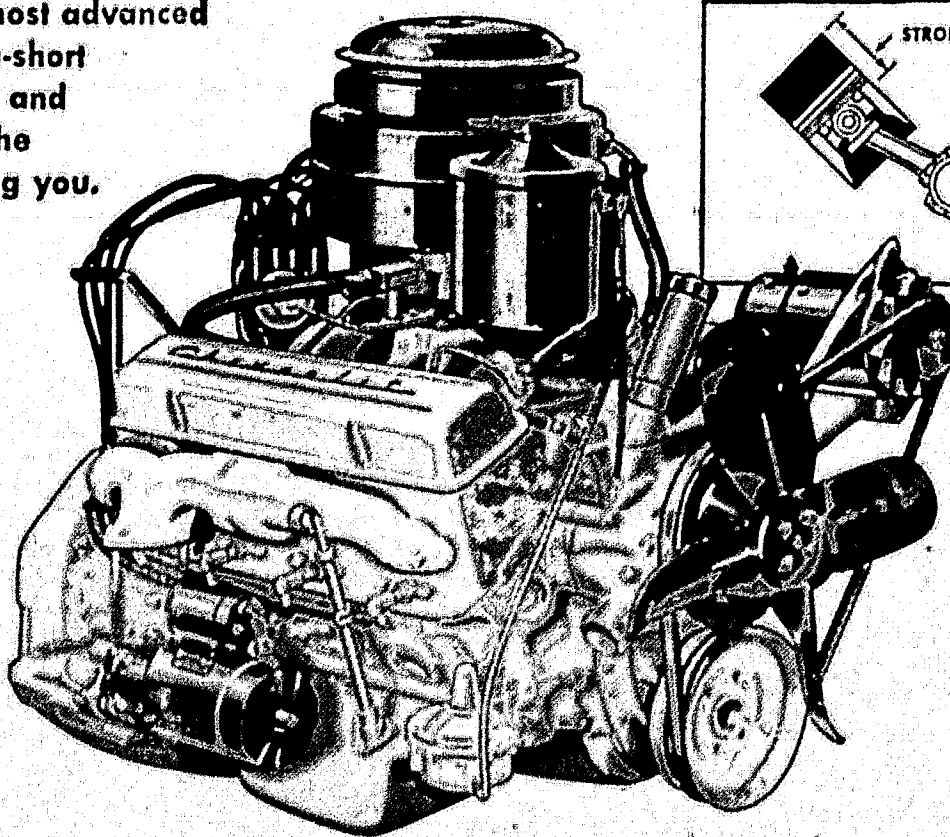

Modern 12-volt electrical system

You get double the punch for quicker starting and more efficient ignition. Also, you have a greater reserve of electrical power.

Gas-saving high-compression ratio

With a high 7.5 to 1 compression ratio, Chevrolet's new V8 truck engines squeeze extra power—and work—out of every tankful of gas. Hauling costs go down!

Extra-high power per pound
Compact, super-efficient design results in high power output per pound of engine weight. This means more useable power!

Note that the bore is bigger than the stroke!

Advanced aircraft-type valves

A new valve train design permits each valve to function independently—as in modern aircraft engines. Valve action is more positive.

Floating oil intake...

full-pressure lubrication
New floating oil intake selects the cleanest oil for engine lubrication. Full-pressure lubrication provides positive protection.

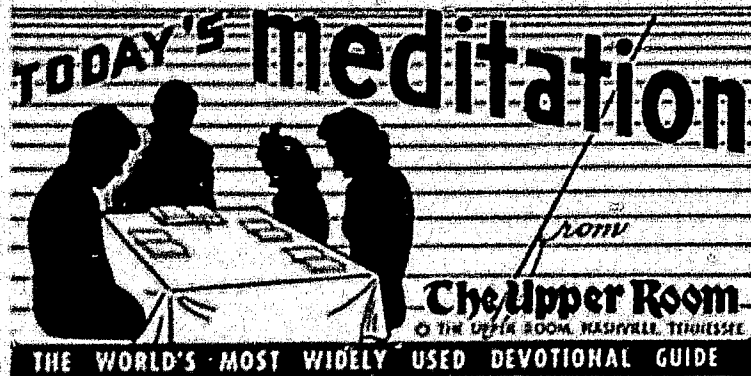

*V8 standard in the new L.C.P. models, an extra-cost option in all others except Forward-Control models.

Thursday, June 23

Read Matthew 22:34-40.

New abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love. (1 Corinthians 13:13, ASV.)

THE Orthodox Church honors particularly two saints, St. Casimir and St. Nicholas. Casimir represents the type of individual religion which is chiefly concerned with one's own soul and salvation, whose life is spent in the contemplation of God and in search of holiness.

Nicholas, on the other hand, spent his life in serving his fellow men by helping the poor, caring for the sick, championing the oppressed. Legend says that the Church Dedicated a day every year to St. Nicholas because he strongly exercised Christian faith, but to St. Nicholas she dedicated four days every year because he deeply practiced Christian love.

The Apostle Paul writes that if we have not love we are nothing. In other words, faith is the foundation of our religion, but love is its fulfillment. The Christian religion means understanding, responsibility, co-operation, compassion, giving of self; in short, loving one another. We make manifest our faith in the measure in which we love our neighbor.

Prayer

O heavenly Father, praised be Thy name for the revelation of Thy redeeming love in Christ Jesus. Make us perfect in love and give us power to make it practical by serving our fellow men, in the Master's name. Amen.

Thought for the Day
"Love is the fulfilling of law."

BEAR RIVER GRANGE

Bear River Grange No. 285 met at their hall Saturday night, June 18, with WM George Stearns in the chair. Ceres, L. A. S. and Asst. Steward were absent. The meeting was taken care of in a very short time and then closed before the program as there were several non-members waiting for the entertainment. Presumptuous Grange of Portland went on a mystery ride and Bear River was its destination - they to furnish our program which they did under "the candlelight of Brotherhood." Mr. McKenzie, lecturer of Presumptuous Grange sure had planned a lovely program. If you did not come enjoy your own cars for missing it because it was grand. A rising vote of thanks was given them. After the program of singing, accordion music, comic readings and a skit - Do not forget the Hula-Hula dancer - Mr. McKenzie called for square dancing and furnished music for the same.

Although the weather was not everyone had a good time (in spite of the "no-see-ums"). A 6:30 supper was served of meat pies, baked beans, brown and white bread, tossed salads, Indian pudding with cream, cold punch and cold milk. Next meeting will be July 2.

PEMAQUID LIGHT ON JULY COVER OF "HOLIDAY"

The rocks and blue Atlantic off Pemaquid Point were selected as the cover of the July issue of Holiday magazine, now on display at newsstands all over the country.

The cover by Holiday photographer Tom Hollyman points up the feature article, "New England" by Bernard DeVoto in the magazine. DeVoto sketches the New England background and the character of her people in his detailed impressions of the region and of the region's impact on the economy and society of the country.

A double-page color picture of Melvin Bridges, lobster-man, at Stonington and of the Lighthouse at Pemaquid, framed dramatically against the rock formations there, are used to illustrate Maine's part in the New England scene. Holiday's story and pictures are another of the many excellent pieces of publicity for Maine that have appeared in national magazines and newspapers this spring and summer.

THREE-QUARTER CENTURY CLUB TO MEET

AT BRUNSWICK, AUG. 24

The 1955 meeting of the State's old folks organization, "The Maine Three-Quarter Century Club," will be held on the Bowdoin Campus in Brunswick on August 24, according to an announcement by the Maine Publicity Bureau, sponsors of the state-wide club.

Plans are being made to seat over 1,800 members and their guests at the Hyde Field House, where the day-long activities will take place.

Hosts for this year's meeting will be the Brunswick Lions Club. President Irving W. Stetson, Jr., and George C. Williams have been named co-chairmen of a committee of eight members of work with representatives of the Bureau in making arrangements for the oldsters' gathering.

The Maine Three-Quarter Century Club is the only organization of its kind in the country organized on a state-wide basis. The only requisite for membership is the attainment of 75 years of age. More than 1,800 were in attendance last year in Augusta with two members there who had reached the 101 year mark. Membership may be obtained through the Maine Publicity Bureau in Portland.

Local Lions Clubs from all over Maine are cooperating in arranging transportation for the old folks to and from the Brunswick meeting, August 24.

GRAND OLE OPRY HERE FOR TWO SHOWS SATURDAY

If a consensus of the better than 150,000,000 people in the United States were taken, you'd find the greatest number choose good, American Country music as their favorite. Internationally Famous Grand Ole Opry has furnished this kind of music for the majority, for almost thirty years.

WSM's Grand Ole Opry boasts not only one of the longest runs, but also the longest single program to tour on the personal appearance lanes, two and a half hours.

Fifty-five million people have witnessed this sparkling show, and reserved seat tickets are usually sold out two months in advance, in Nashville, Tenn. Visitors from all the forty-eight states and Canada have seen the show. Many return again and again. Uncountable numbers have heard the radio programs and almost as many have seen the television shows.

Now it comes to Bethel, on Saturday, June 25. It's ones chance to see the Original Grand Old Opry, with more names than ever before. It's the biggest unit ever put under canvas. One will enjoy a complete show, with music, lights, color, costumes, sparkling humor and good old-time country music, under a mammoth water-proof tent theatre.

Associate Editor of Collier's Magazine, Bill Davidson, who wrote a story on the Grand Ole Opry says, "It is this genuineness that has enabled 'Grand Ole Opry' to survive and prosper where most of its major competitors which adopted modern music and techniques faded away."

Entertainers on Grand Ole Opry include the greatest folk music stars of today. Bill Monroe and his Blue Grass Boys; Cowboy Copas; the Sweethearts of the West; Dot and Smokey; and a host of fiddlers, songsters and musicians, combine their talents to bring to Bethel the fastest, finest, most entertaining show imaginable.

Because Grand Old Opry has never sacrificed sincerity for the modern trend, it has remained in the top brackets for such a long time. One feels the friendly warmth of each performer the moment they step on the stage. If one enjoys this type of entertainment, and few don't then by all means see this grand road company troupe, that began as the traditional barn dance show of its day, and made Nashville the folk music capital of the world. The show will be given in one of the World's most beautiful tent theatres, located at Guy Morgan's Showgrounds. Curtain rises at 2:30 and 8:30 p. m., however, the doors will be open at 1:30 and 7:00 p. m. Popular prices will prevail. Free parking.

Conservation Farming In Oxford County

by Douglas L. Marston Soil Conservation Service

I was at the C S Barrows & Son farm in Oxford last week to look over some of the projects that might be accomplished during the Oxford County Agricultural Field Day which will be held on August 17.

One practice that is badly needed on the farm is a sod waterway. There is a small stream that is fed from springs that flows from a road culvert down through a pasture for 900 feet to Thompson Pond. We hope to be able to complete this waterway during the field day. Another practice that is needed to improve their pasture program is a farm pond. A dug type or pond is planned and this will be constructed across from the farm buildings and should also prove of value for fire protection. They also have a 3-acre pasture piece that we hope to use a rototiller on. We hope that this piece would also be limed, fertilized and seeded during the day.

We also hope to have a bulldozer with a rake type blade to do some land clearing.

We intend to invite contractors, equipment owners and dealers to donate time and equipment to establish these practices.

Any contractors, or heavy equipment owners interested in participating in this field day are urged to contact Douglas Marston, Soil Conservation Service, South Paris, Maine; Tel. Norway 047-M.
